

Private College/Out-of-State University Transfer

MiraCosta College also has agreements with many private colleges and universities within California and agreements with some out-of-state universities. Most of these universities accept all courses designated as UC transferable, and many accept completion of CSU GE-Breadth (Plan B) or IGETC (Plan C) in lieu of their own general education requirements. However, graduation requirements and coursework used to complete a major may vary significantly with requirements at the California State University (CSU) or University of California (UC) systems. Some California and out-of-state private colleges and universities accept the Associate Degree for Transfer for specific majors in lieu of major and general education requirements.

To find out more about U.S. regionally accredited private colleges in California, students should visit www.californiacolleges.edu. For specific information about private and out-of-state universities, students should visit the Transfer Center or the specific college's website, or make an appointment with a MiraCosta College counselor. MiraCosta lists agreements with many private California and out-of-state universities on the college's articulation webpage: <https://www.miracosta.edu/student-services/articulation/index.html>.
